Fresh Advances Reported for Russians-French Progress Along Somme.

GERMANS COUNTER-ATTACK

Wedge Forced Further Into Galicia by Czar's Army—Kovel Being Evacuated.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Steadily pounding away in their joint offensive on both fronts, the allies today report fresh gains for the Russians and additional ground won by Joure's men, both north and south of the Somme.

The British, according to unofficial reports, have repulsed all attacks in Pleardy, where the Germans, with snormous re-enforcements, have been launching terrific counter-blows to regain the ground lost and check the menace to their line of communication by the British advance.

At one point, in Vaux Chapter wood, the Paris statement admits, the Germans, after a series of unsuccessful.

reports, have repuised all attacks in Picardy, where the Germans, with snormous re-enforcements, have been launching terrific counter-blows to regain the ground lost and check the menace to their line of communication by the British advance.

At one point, in Vaux Chapter wood, the Paris statement admits, the Germans, after a series of unsuccessful attacks, made a gain, but suffered heavy losses.

Steadily forcing a wedge between the German armies in Volhynia and the German armies in Volhynia and the German armies in Volhynia and the German armies have been and Viedimir-Volynski. His forces are now well across the Stokhod river from the Pinsk marshes to its source near Kiselin.

Hold Both Railroads. They held both the Sarny-Kovel and the Royno-Kovel railroads, both of which are connected with Kieff and the network of Russian railways in the inmetwork of Russian railways in the intarior, so that a ready and continuous supply of ammunition can be easily forwarded to the front. The Russians are within twenty miles of Kovel and about the same distance from Viadimir-Votynski. The occupation of these two towns would almost certainly cause the evacuation of Lembers.

The Russians could then advance down the Bug river, threatening the qualician capital from the north, while their forces in the Austrian province moved southwest from Brody, west from Tarnopol, and northwest from the Elota Lipa, are attacking it from three sides at once. A collapse of the entire Austrian army would certainly follow.

Abandoning Kovel.

their heavy artillery, food, and munitiem depots, and the city of Vladimrvolynaki is said to have been completely evacuated by the Germans. Although these dispatches are not confirmed, it is believed here that at least they are only premature, as Rome is usually well informed on Russian news.

A correspondent with the Russian Indices has reported that the roads toward Kovel are black with the retreating enemy." The Russians are virtually within striking distance of both Kovel and Vladimir-volynaki and also are pressing closer toward Lemberg.

Telegrams from Vienna say that the Austro-Hungarians have made all preparations for the evacuation of Lemberg, says a dispatch from Copenhagen. Large quantities of goods have been removed from the city. The Neue Frele Presse, of Vienna, says it Learns that a large number of the inhabitants of Lemberg aiready have left the place.

Further south, military observers here believe, the Austrian forces of Count von Bothmer between the Ziota Lipa and the Dniester are doomed. They are aiready nearly enveloped by the Russians, and the railways behind them were destroyed by Cossack divisions pushing out from Brody after the occupation of that town.

Germans both north and south of the Somme, according to the official communique today.

A German gain after many unsuccessful attacks, was admitted in Vaux Chapter wood, but the enemy's losses were said to be heavy.

"North of the Somme we captured a powerful fortified work between Hem and Monacu," the statement declared. "South of the Somme we occupied a German trench northwest of Densecourt, imprisoning several.

"In the Champagne sone, west of Aubrives, Russian reconnoisance forces charged and dispersed a German detachment at the point of bayonet.

"On the right bank of the Meuse, along the Vaux Chapter and Le Chenois front, a violent struggle continued all night. After many unsuccessful attacks, in most of which asphyxiating gases were used, the Germans gained a little ground in Vaux Chapter wood. They were elsewhere repulsed. The German losses were important. One hundred prisoners fell into the hands of the French."

"Soldiers of the Republic:

"Your third year of fighting has bebegun. For two years past you have been supporting with unfalling strength the weight of an implacable conflict. You have caused all the plans of our enemies to fail. You vanquished them on the Marne; you checked them on the Yser, and you beat them in the Artols and in the Champagne at a time when they were valuely seeking victory on the plains of Russia. Then your victorious resistance during a battle of five months' duration broke the German effort in front of Verdun.

"Thanks to your stubborn courage, the armies of our aillies have been enabled to manufacture arms, the weight of which our enemies today are experiencing over their entire front.

"The moment is approaching when, under the strength of our mutual advance, the military power of Germany will crumble.

"Boldiers of France, you may be proud of the work you slready have accomplished! You have determined to see it through to the end! Yictory is certain!

ALLIES POUND BOTH Parcel Post Service Of"FarmtoBreaktast Table" Grows Popular

Daily Average of Packages Sent From Country to Capital Is 500, Nearly Double Previous Year's Record—Eggs Form Bulk of Traffic.

The "farm to the breakfast table" December business will be double to service of the parcel post has doubled it was a year back.

A year ago, in July, 1915, the parcel post branch of the city postoffice kept tab on the number of packages of "perishables" received for 'delivery ere. There were 782 packages in three days, a daily average of 261.

531 Packages Sent Daily. A three-day count of "perishable" packages was made by the postoffice last December, and it was found tha The December count, it is pointed out is hardly representative of a year-round business because of the boom in the parcel post traffic in the holiday season,

Eggs constitute the bulk of parcel post shipments received at the Washington postoffice from surrounding rural territory. During the three-day-ington postoffice from surrounding rural territory. During the three-day-count period in December there were 558 packages of eggs, 253 of poultry, 104 of fruit, and 574 packages of all other perishable products, including butter.

Eggs hold their leadership the year round, and the assistants of Postmaster Merritt O. Chance say the breakage is remarkably small, considering the number handled.

The eggs, when packed in good containers, will be delivered to consignee intact. The use of tin containers is said to be bad, because the authorities were unable to determine accurately when a shipment came in bad condition, and also because the pressing in of un sides often cause breakage. Pasteboard or crate containers are most successful, say postal authorities.

Inat most of the shipments are to steady customers was the opinion of officials. They say that it is a case of a family ordering once or twice a week regularly. They estimate that fully 3,000 families in this city are supplied with butter, eggs, or poultry by the parcels post.

Many families buy from one to ten dozen eggs a week through the main; with butter the case is the same, and a purchase of fifteen pounds of butter at a time is by no means unusual. On account of the severe restrictions on meat, there is very little of it sent through the mail.

Of vegetables, everything in season comes through the post. Beans this year were an especially popular article through the parcel post route, and hundreds of packages a day of them were sent at one time. that cannot be handled in the summer time.

For instance, the poultry, meat, and butter shipments of December cannot hold up during the hot summer months. Eggs and fruits are more in demand as summer parcel post offerings.

The true basis of comparison, therefore, is the summer business of a year second parcel post zone, although in the winter time there is quite a business in comes of today. This shows a growth of 100 per cent, and the postoffice expects that when December comes around the Glen Echo.

Next Sunday at Glen Scho, Sol Minster will make his second appearance of this season at the head of his big band in a series of concerts in the afternoon and evening. Last Sunday the thousands of people who made the trip out to the cool resort gave their fullest appromises to be even more interesting. In the meantime the regular program will be in evidence every night, with all of the two score amusements running, and all of the free features including the photoplays out in the cool out-of-doors, where patrons of the park are given an opportunity to see first time films in comfort.

In the dance pavillon, in addition to the regular program a "spotlight" number will be included until the management introduces the next of the series of noveities planned for the big pavillon. With big outings scheduled for almost every day Glen Echo is almost as busy a place during the day as at night, and is rapidly earning the name of the "Capital's picnic park." In the meantime the regular program

On Wednesday, Thuraday, and Friday a triple feature program will be headed by the inimitable Billie Burke in "The Floating Trap," a thrilling and interesting chapter of Rupert Hughes' film romance, "Gloria's Romance." Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne also will be seen in a novel detective drama, "The Three Scratch Clue," and Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby will close the program in "The Tired Business Man," an amusing picturization of the trials and tribulations of a honeymooning couple.

On Saturday Ormi Hawley will head the double feature show in "Her American Prince," a story whose action and plot are whimsical and unusual to the last degree. Mary Pickford will also grace the screen on this day in "The Wisdom of the White Man."

Loew's Columbia.

Cleo. Ridgely and Wallace Reid, two popular screen favorites, will be seen as co-stars in the feature photo-play. "The House of the Golden Windows," at Loew's Columbia tomorrow, and for the last half of the week. "The House of the Golden Windows" is a modern version of L. V. Jefferson's old fairy tale. The story in its modernized form is as follows: Tom Wells, a poor rancher, is saving to go back East and start life anew.

His little son, Billy, goes to play in the orchard of James Peabody, a wealthy oil man, and falls into a pool. In pulling him out his mother notices traces of oil. The overseer drives them out of the orchard, and when Mr. Peabody learns of it, he presents Mrs. Wells with a deed to the orchard, including "any benefits that may be derived from this soil." "The House of the Golden Windows, "any benefits that may be derived from this soil."
She hesitates, feeling that she should tell him of the oil, but her hatred of poverty overcomes her better nature. Later she falls asleep and dreams that she strikes oil and becomes wealthy. All sorts of sorrows come to her, and she has just come to the point where her husband kills Peabody when she awakens to find them entering the cabin—Tom, with a chean fur which he proudly presents to his wife, and Peabody with the news that he leaves for the East next day and has appointed Tom overseer.

ROCKVILLE.

Holmer M. West, nineteen, son of Erasmus West, of Hunting Hill, died Monday at the home of his parents as a result of injuries suffered the day before when a bicycle he was riding collided with a concrete abuttment of the bridge over Muddy branch, on the Rockville-Darnestown pike.

The county commissioners have appointed James R. Lillard a constable for Darnestown district.

Didn't Believe in Banks

$1,700 kept in his vest pocket because he feared to keep his money in bank was lost recently by one of our citizens who suffered an attack of vertigo on the street and was assisted by strangers, who relieved him in both senses of the word. .

We would have paid him $51 (3%) a year for the privilege of taking care of it.

The Safest Investments

Are those that do not fluctuate during dis-turbed conditions of the money or stock mar-kets. First deed of trust notes (first mort-agges), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitute "gilt-edge" investments. They do not depend upon the financial responsibility of individuals or cor-porations for their stability, and are exempt from taxation as personal property. We can supply such investments in amounts from $500 upward. Send for booklet, "Concerning Loans and Investments."
